I am concerned doctors could face loss of their Medical Board registration (and thus their jobs) on the basis of what is deemed "culturally" appropriate by the patient or family as sole determinants (points 2.1 and 4.8 in the draft proposal), and what is supposedly "medically irrelevant", which endangers the freedom of the medical professional in both clinical decision-making and in matters of conscience.

This is essentially a leftist proposal that will be weaponised to get rid of those who disagree with their ideas on gender theory, abortion, euthanasia, same sex marriage etc
