

From: [REDACTED]
Sent: Monday, 4 November 2013 4:12 PM
To: Standard Consultation
Subject: ielts review

To whomever it may concern

I have written a suggestion once but will make another CIF as there is an opportunity to. I have done my last ielts with flying colors except for writing and i think its irritating that you have to do the same full exam again if it were possible can we jst do the exam that we fail and its very hard because there is no feedback on where you ate going wrong as an individual and it makes it hard to understand if it is the marker who feels not happy about your writing or if there is a certain criteria you are not following. I studied literature and i really feel i dont deserve to fail english and my english is fluent. I feel embarassed that i have to go through the exam over again and thinking that being a single mum sacrificing all you can to get a diploma then stopped from achieving your dreams of becoming a nurse because you were not born in australia is very frustrating. I wish you could also look at assignments from the college you studying to review all four aspects of english. I believe i was one of the best students at tafe and just telling my lecturers that i am stuck from achieving my dreams is a concern too. Can this please be reviewed if possible because a lot of money is being sacrificed and for people trying by all means to make earns meet is really unfair especially for australain citizens.

Yours faithfully

[REDACTED]