Subject: Public consultation - MBA- Proposed changes to sexual boundaries guidelines

Hello

Please see below feedback in regard to the Medical Board of Australia public consultation paper on the draft revised guidelines Sexual boundaries in the doctor-patient relationship.

The changes to the document are clear and well detailed. The addition of two new sections, one regarding maintaining sexual boundaries with current patients clearly documents warning signs and the other new section on maintaining sexual boundaries with individuals close to the patient is also a welcome addition. The social media section is required to address the changing communications within the public. The document Guidelines: Sexual boundaries in the doctor-patient relationship is well written and clear and we see no changes needed.

Thank you for the opportunity to provide feedback. Should you have further questions please do not hesitate to contact me.

Regards

Ronda
