Questions for consideration

The Board is inviting general comments on the draft revised code as well as feedback on the following questions.

1. From your perspective, how is the current code working?

The code offers an excellent, if exhaustive framework for Good Practice. Implementation of elements remain difficult, particularly those pertaining to BHD. The code does not filter into practice in this domain.

2. Is the content and structure of the draft revised code helpful, clear, relevant and more workable than the current code?

It is clear, helpful, but not terrible different from the previous

3. Is there any content that needs to be changed or deleted in the draft revised code?

Not apparent

4. Is there anything missing that needs to be added to the draft revised code?

Not apparent

5. Do you have any other comments on the draft revised code?

No.
