Dear Sirs,

I would like to provide input to this Public consultation on draft revised code of conduct, Good medical practice: A code of conduct for doctors in Australia.

I expect the code of conduct to ensure that the medical practitioner :-

1. Is able to provide care according to what they are qualified in
2. has an empathy and professionalism and duty of care to their patients
3. will abstract themselves from their personal faith, beliefs, and lifestyle in the conduct of the delivery of care to ensure that the patient receives the best care.
4. Will work amicably and within legal boundaries with any community, cultural, political, religious, medical, professional, social, security and government bodies to protect and support their patient

On the basis of the above, I do not feel their involvement in any sphere of their personal life should be any business of the Medical board and the code of conduct has no right or obligation to place controls or threats of punitive action on them or to debar them

Thank you

Solomon S Victor
